Americans Bomb Four Big Jap Cities Enemy Losses in Philippines Now Total 402,363

American Troop Casualties Are Around 50,000

Yanks Forces Rapidly Clearing Japs from North Luzon

By SPENCER DAVIS
MANILA, Monday, June 18 (AP)—The American reconquest of the Philippines has cost the Japanese 402,363 killed and 7,037 captured in the past week, Gen Douglas MacArthur announced today as the Thirty-seventh division marked up a forty mile gain in three days against crumbling enemy resistance in the broad Cagayan valley of Northern Luzon.

The week's casualties (approximately twice those of previous weeks) raised enemy dead and captured for the eight-month Philippine campaign to 402,363, including those estimated to have perished in convoy sinkings off Leyte and others sealed in caves.

50,000 American Casualties
An American headquarters spokesman said that American troop casualties for the entire campaign were slightly in excess of 50,000 killed, missing and wounded. No figures were given for the air forces or navy.

American army casualties for the week were listed as 103 dead, two missing and 522 wounded. Most of the Japanese casualties for the week were on Luzon, where 3,912 were counted and ninety-five prisoners were taken. The others were on Mindanao and scattered throughout back areas of the Philippines, with the total of 1,037 prisoners setting a one-week record.

In a single day, Saturday, troops of the First Army Corps, driving northward behind strong aerial support, made twenty-two miles in one day, five the next and 13 the next. It has reached the valley town of Cagayan. This is 132 road miles south of the Japanese port of Aparri, where the Cagayan valley meets the sea.

37th Gains 22 Miles
Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beightler's Thirty-seventh (Buckeye) division of the First Army Corps, driving northward behind strong aerial support, made twenty-two miles in one day, five the next and 13 the next. It has reached the valley town of Cagayan. This is 132 road miles south of the Japanese port of Aparri, where the Cagayan valley meets the sea.

The largest Japanese forces remaining in the Philippines are believed to be concentrated in that stretch of open countryside, divided by the Cagayan river and crisscrossed by small streams.

More than 500 sorties were flown Friday alone in support of Luzon ground action, and most of them were over the Cagayan valley.

Gen. LeMay Arrives in Washington after Record Non-Stop Trip
WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP)—Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, chief of the B-29 air fleet striking Japan, has arrived in Washington after a record, non-stop flight by Superfortress from Hawaii.

The War department announced his arrival today, saying he came to Washington with some of his staff conferences at army air forces headquarters. He landed at 11:43 p. m. yesterday.

With LeMay flying the plane most of the way, the Superfortress made the 4,640-mile non-stop jump from Hawaii in twenty hours and fifteen minutes. LeMay left his headquarters at Guam on Friday, making the 3,780-mile flight to John Rogers field at Honolulu in fifteen hours and forty-three minutes. The army said the 38-year-old general from Lakewood, Ohio piloted the plane on all takeoffs and landings and was in the controls during much of the flight.

Arrival of Eisenhower Will Leave MacArthur Only Absent Commander
By ELTON C. FAY
(Associated Press News Analyst)
With the arrival today of General Eisenhower, Washington's visitor list will contain the names of about every top ranking American commander—except General Douglas MacArthur.

At one time or another during the last three and a half years of war, the various commanders, army and navy, have come to Washington for conferences. It has been over six years since MacArthur has been in the capital.

He was in the Philippines as commanding general of the Far Eastern command when the Japanese struck. With the fall of Corregidor, he set up his headquarters in Australia, then staged it north, invasion by. During the war, MacArthur's closest approach to the United States has been his trip to Hawaii a year ago when the late President Roosevelt asked him to meet there for a conference.

It should be pointed out that it is customary for commanders to journey to Washington during wartime. (Continued on Page 3, Col. 7)

REGAINING HEALTH

SILENCE wasn't golden to Cpl. Jerome Rubin, Brooklyn, N. Y., who is now a patient at Lovell General Hospital, Fort Devens, Mass., where he is recovering from 11 bullet wounds. When he fell into German hands and refused to talk, a Nazi officer opened up on him with a machine pistol. They left him for dead, but Rubin managed to make his way back to his own lines despite his wounds.

"Ike" Arrives Today To Receive Nation's Cheers

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP)—General "Ike" Eisenhower comes home from European wars tomorrow and official Washington will give him the welcome due a conquering hero.

Turning aside briefly from a war still to be won in the Pacific, the wartime capital will allow itself a seventh inning stretch to cheer the man who mastered Hitler's hordes. From airport to Pentagon to Capitol hill the modest Allied commander in chief will be greeted by martial music, forests of flags and the plaudits of multitudes.

Day of Jubilation
Allowing itself the first breather after three and a half strictly-business years, the army will turn on such military pomp as can be spared from war for a day of jubilation. Government workers, who stayed at their desks in the hour of European victory, will be given a partial holiday.

Gen. Eisenhower and his official party of fifty-three are scheduled to arrive at the national airport across the Potomac at 11 a. m., eastern war time. The minutely-planned parade will be the last of a series of military pomp as he steps down from his plane, flying in from Paris by way of Bermuda.

The United States Army band, recalled for the occasion from full-dress after two years of duty overseas will give an official musical welcome.

Will Be Met by Stimson
Then will start the parade around the bend of the Potomac to the mammoth five-sided War department building. The general's motorcade will enter the inner court of the Pentagon through a tunnel and he will be met there by Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson.

Leaving the Pentagon, the official party will enter Washington over the Memorial bridge, circle the Lincoln memorial and proceed to the Capitol over Constitution and Pennsylvania avenues.

Somewhat belatedly, Gen. Eisenhower will halt momentarily at Fourteenth and Pennsylvania to pick up the keys of the city, presented by the president of the District of Columbia Board of Commissioners.

Dinner at the Statler
The parade will resume back down Constitution and Pennsylvania avenues to the Statler hotel in Midtown, where the general, his party and their relatives will be guests of the District of Columbia at a luncheon.

President Truman will greet Eisenhower for the first time of the day at a 2:30 p. m. White House appointment. Rushing on to a 3:30 p. m. news conference at the Pentagon, the general will be free afterward to rest until 7:30 p. m., when with his official staff he will set forth again for the White House to eat a buffet supper with the president.

Returning Yanks Confident Japs Are near Defeat

Positive American Air Power and Artillery Will Bring Victory

By WALTER MASON
NEW YORK PORT OF EM-BARKATION, CAMP KILMER, N. J., June 17 (AP)—If American airpower and artillery are concentrated in the Pacific as they were in the battles of Europe, men of the Eighty-sixth "Black Hawk" division declared today, the war against the Japanese won't last long.

The enlisted men of the first full combat division to return for redeployment against the Japanese, voicing fervent praise of the air force and the artillery, asserted that the two converted towns into unbelievable heaps of rubble and territory in front of attacking troops into something resembling a well-ploughed field.

Part of Patton's Army
The division, part of Patton's Third Army, distinguished itself by smashing German defenses at Regensburg last spring, and by becoming the first to cross the Danube. Included in its strength are some hundreds of men from Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia, who will go to Port George G. Meade, Md., tomorrow for processing before being given thirty-day furloughs.

An example of the power of American arms, and of German treachery, was cited by Pfc. Edwin P. Walters, Baltimore. He told how, shortly after the Eighty-sixth went into combat, part of its men entered a town in which white flags of truce were displayed.

When they got into the town, SS troops opened up with machine guns and rifles, killing number of men and wounding others before they could withdraw. A severe pounding with artillery reduced the town, which Walters did not identify, and it was taken.

"There were never any SS taken (prisoner) after that," Walters remarked.

Proud of Experience
Proud of their combat experience and the fact that they marched all the way through to Austria where they experienced six inches of snow May 1—enlisted men of the division constantly pushed forward to tell of the feats of comrades.

Lt. Robert C. Necessary, Norton, Va., who was commissioned on the battlefield last May 21 at Mainz, Germany, was a typical example. When he bashfully hung back, several of his men thrust forward to tell how he and four others breached a German mine field in order to bring back a patrol safely.

Mrs. W. H. Necessary, of Norton, a former pilot sergeant, was cited for several outstanding feats in combat, including the night patrol in which he and his men used bayonets to probe the earth for mines because detectors were "too noisy."

80,459 Japanese Dead in Okinawa Island Fighting

By LEIF ERICKSON
GUAM, Monday, June 18 (AP)—The Sixth marine division, conquerors of Naha and Orok peninsula, moved into the Southern Okinawa Yaeu sector yesterday and gained several hundred yards to a point south of Mezado town.

The body of Adm. Mimoru Ota, commander of the Japanese naval base force on Okinawa, was discovered in a cave on Orok peninsula, Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz said today in a communique.

This was somewhat unusual. Throughout much of the Pacific war, highest Japanese commanders, both army and navy, have been evacuated by submarine or airplane when surface shipping was unsafe.

Nimitz said an estimated 80,459 Japanese troops have been killed on Okinawa and 1,680 taken prisoner since start of the Okinawa campaign April 1.

This total of 82,139 Japanese known killed or taken prisoner indicates that original estimates of over 85,000 Japanese were conservative, but that not many thousands of enemy forces remain to be cleaned out of the island's southern tip.

Jap Planes Attack
Five small groups of Japanese aircraft attacked American forces in the Okinawa area Saturday, sending one light fleet unit—a destroyer or smaller, Nimitz reported. Three enemy planes were shot down.

This was the first damage suffered by Japanese aerial action in the Okinawa area in a week or more. During most of that time, the enemy did not venture forth in bad weather. However, the Japanese sent no attackers into the Central Ryukyus either Wednesday or Thursday, despite clearing weather, and on Friday they failed to reach American shipping, although some planes were shot down.

Return of King To Belgium Is Strongly Opposed

By PUGH MOORE

BRUSSELS, June 17 (AP)—Police guarded the national radio station and Central Telegraph office today and there were hints of a general strike as Belgium awaited the return of King Leopold amid new demands that he abdicate.

The ministry of information announced that the 43-year-old monarch, who surrendered himself and his army eighteen days after the German invasion in 1940, would return "soon"—construed by some to mean tomorrow.

Cabinet Resigns
The cabinet, headed by Socialist Premier Achille Van Acker, resigned yesterday in protest against his return but pledged itself to keep on until a new cabinet takes over. Developments today were:

1. Brussels street car workers said they would strike when Leopold sets foot on Belgian soil, lending credence to general strike reports.

2. The Socialist party executive board reaffirmed the party's demand that the king abdicate.

3. The Communist newspaper Le Drapeau in a special edition proclaimed the "all for cause of democracy and of work are behind the Van Acker government," and demanded: "Democrats, hold yourselves in readiness to respond to coups de force which are being prepared."

The French Press Agency in a Brussels dispatch reported by the OWI, said delegates of the Liberal, Socialist and Communist parties and labor organizations had asserted in a manifesto that "if opponents act in a manner making total cessation of work inevitable, they will bear responsibility for it."

No Vote Announced
There was as yet no exact word as to when the king intends to come to Brussels from Salzburg, Austria—a trip to face a future beset with uncertainty. The blond, wavy-haired, 43-year-old monarch has been told by Van Acker that elements of the Belgians do not want him—that they still hold it against him that he surrendered Belgium's army to the Nazis eighteen days after Belgium was invaded in 1940, and himself remained in Nazi hands.

Leopold, however, is understood to consider himself above reproach, and duty-bound to lay his case before the people and let them decide whether he should resume the throne kept by his brother, the Prince Regent Charles.

Some Belgians believe the situation will result in a general election—immensely difficult now because the prewar balloting machinery is disorganized, and large numbers of Belgians are still absent as refugees and unrepatriated ex-slave laborers.

Vice Admiral McIntyre Points Out Why All Should Buy U. S. War Bonds

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP)—A war bond statement from Vice Admiral Ross T. McIntyre, chief of the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery, United States navy:

"The healing of the wounded and sick constitutes the constructive side of a destructive business—war. Hospital ships, operating tables, drugs and the innumerable other necessities of a medical department second to none cost money. The funds which you exchange for war bonds help pay the cost. For this drive dig a little deeper. Make it 'The Lucky Seventh.'"

Russian Demand Delays Accord At Conference

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17 (AP)—A formal Russian demand for definite curbs on debating rights of a new world assembly stalled the Sunday working schedule of the United Nations conference today and tossed the knotty issue to a special three-man committee.

Soviet Chairman Andrei Gromyko told the conference executive committee called together at his request, that the Assembly in which all small nations would have a voice should not be permitted to discuss any matters within the sphere of international relations. Instead, he said, the Assembly should be limited to making recommendations only on those matters involving peace and security.

Australian Objects
Herbert Evatt, Australian foreign minister and a leader in the small-nation battle for greater authority for the world assembly, promptly objected to reopening this issue, long since settled in favor of wide assembly powers by a conference working committee.

Secretary of State Stettinius spoke up, emphasizing the necessity of reaching a decision quickly so that the conference can wind up Saturday with an address by President Truman. He named himself, Gromyko and Evatt as a special committee to work out a solution of this added big versus little nations controversy, and called in John P. Dulles, United States delegation adviser, to help.

Russia Delays Meeting
But Russia's move for cancellation of a public commission session set for tonight to wind up work on charter sections covering the Assembly's authority. It also turned into a mere formality of a meeting of the powerful steering committee composed of fifty-nation delegation chiefs.

Definite headway toward finishing a charter was made in the late night hours before the executive committee met. A boisterous committee session cleared the way for general revision of the charter at the end of ten days.

This committee accepted an American suggestion that, if nothing has been done about amending the charter previously, a proposal for a general amending convention be definitely set for consideration by the tenth annual meeting of the general assembly. Many small nations applauded the plan. Canada called it a "refreshing tonic."

Judge H. H. Rose Dies Suddenly

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 17 (AP)—Judge H. H. Rose of the West Virginia State Supreme Court died unexpectedly tonight in a Charleston hospital.

Soon after Tokyo aired its pessimistic views about the impending aerial blows Japan can expect, about 450 American Superfortresses struck two of Japan's home islands, unloading fire bombs on four secondary industrial centers.

Pointing to the "many airfields" America will have on Okinawa, Tokyo said these bases would furnish air cover for an invasion of the Japanese homeland or the China coast. It added that such an invasion appears imminent because "in the Okinawa area the enemy is evidently making preparations already for the next advancing operation."

The war situation, Tokyo warned, "does not give us any reason for optimism." It called upon all Japanese to be determined suicide fighters and added that "as long as each man is determined to kill one enemy man," the people of Nippon "will be a defensive fortress for their country."

Many Maryland Soldiers Reach American Camps

Fourteen Thousand Cheering Veterans Arrive in Home Port

By WALTER MASON
NEW YORK PORT OF EM-BARKATION, CAMP KILMER, N. J., June 17 (AP)—More than 14,000 cheering trophy-laden men of the first full European combat division to return on the way to fight the Japs. Among them between hundreds of men from Maryland, Virginia, and West Virginia, set foot on home soil once more today.

Under Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson, led the colorful welcome to the Eighty-sixth "Black Hawk" division, which distinguished itself in four months of combat with General George Patton's Third Army by smashing German defenses west of Regensburg early in the spring and by becoming the first division to cross the Danube.

Bands Play, Men Cheer
As the big grey transports steamed up New York harbor, tugs hoisted, be-lagged cutters and yachts whistled, spectators along the way waved a welcome and then men themselves gave a roaring, hilarious greeting. Bands played all the way up the harbor past the statue of liberty and girls staged dances on the fore-deck of a yacht as it passed transport after transport.

The 14,289 battle-hardened men and officer of the Eighty-sixth infantry, few of whom have enough of the required points to have discharge, were among more than 21,000 troops landing from eight vessels at the New York port of embarkation during the day.

Will Get Furlough
The Eighty-sixth was brought en masse to Camp Kilmer for a big steak dinner, change of summer clothing, and starting of the processing which will wind up in a day or two with thirty-day furloughs to be granted from twenty reception centers scattered throughout the country.

Shout Wise Cracks
The grinning, shouting soldiers lined the rails ten deep, perched on superstructure and craned their necks from port holes to shout wise cracks, their names and home towns, and to call attention to a bag banner on one side of the pennant decked ships: "E-T-O to Tokyo."

One of the big vessels showed a noticeable list from the weight of the men lining the rails, some stripped to the waist and tanned, many of them sporting captured binoculars and cameras and nearly every one with a duffle bag crammed with souvenirs.

Under Secretary of War Patterson rode a small harbor boat, along with Major General Charles F. Gross, chief of transportation, and service forces, who flew to New York with Patterson to greet the Eighty-sixth, and extend congratulations to Major General Harris M. Melasky of Austin, Texas, commanding general of the Eighty-sixth.

Jap Radio Sees Great Air Raids On Home Islands

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17 (AP)—Tokyo today told the Japanese people that loss of Okinawa, now falling to hard-hitting American doughboys and marines, will mean the launching of a "great aerial offensive—against Japan proper and an early invasion of the Nippon homeland or China."

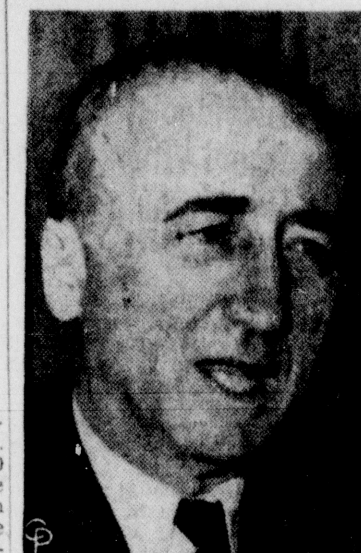

Tokyo also reported, in a series of broadcasts monitored by the FCC, that Allied warships bombarded the Balikpapan region of Borneo; that American planes struck just south of Kyushu island, that warships shelled Matsushima Jima, in the Northern Kuriles, on two consecutive days early last week; and that a Russian ship was sunk, probably by a Yank submarine.

Soon after Tokyo aired its pessimistic views about the impending aerial blows Japan can expect, about 450 American Superfortresses struck two of Japan's home islands, unloading fire bombs on four secondary industrial centers.

Pointing to the "many airfields" America will have on Okinawa, Tokyo said these bases would furnish air cover for an invasion of the Japanese homeland or the China coast. It added that such an invasion appears imminent because "in the Okinawa area the enemy is evidently making preparations already for the next advancing operation."

The war situation, Tokyo warned, "does not give us any reason for optimism." It called upon all Japanese to be determined suicide fighters and added that "as long as each man is determined to kill one enemy man," the people of Nippon "will be a defensive fortress for their country."

MAY GET KEY POST

DESPITE persistent denials in high official circles, it is reported in Washington that President Truman will name ex-War Mobilizer James F. Byrnes (above) to succeed Secretary of State Stettinius. The same source says that Stettinius probably will be given the assignment of representing the United States on the Security Council.

Poles Will Be Placed on Trial By Reds Today

By EDDIE GILMORE

MOSCOW, June 17 (AP)—A group of Poles, including Gen. Bronislaw Okulicki, will go on trial tomorrow on charges of committing diversionary acts behind the Red army lines in Poland, and there were indications today the death penalty may be asked in some cases.

While Russian courts were preparing to handle this particular problem, initial conversations had already taken place between Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, former Polish premier in London, and other Polish groups, aimed at forming a Polish provisional government along the lines set down by the Crimean conference.

Special Passes Issued
Special passes were issued today to Soviet and foreign correspondents, permitting them to attend the sittings in the military collegium of the supreme court of the U.S.S.R. in the trial of Okulicki and others. Representatives of foreign missions in Moscow were invited to attend.

Sixteen Poles were arrested by the Russians, but it was not specified whether all would go on trial. The trial will take place at the Dom Stoyov, the house of the labor unions, sometimes referred to as the Hall of Columns.

Because committing acts of diversion is a serious charge the prosecutor for the Red army may demand heavy penalties, it was said. The alleged acts were committed before the war ended, it was pointed out.

Vasily V. Ulrich, president of the military collegium of the supreme court, who presided at the last purge trials, may direct the proceedings tomorrow.

Startling Evidence Promised
Reports in responsible circles said that "startling evidence" would be presented against Okulicki, and that the Red army had amassed much evidence of terroristic and diversionist activity against the accused. These circles said the Poles will be charged with being in possession of radio sets with which they kept in contact with the London exile government.

Diplomatic observers, meanwhile, expressed optimism over the results of initial discussions held by Mikolajczyk and Jan Stanczyk, Socialist miners' leader from London with representatives of the Warsaw government and other groups from Poland.

These observers said they were impressed with the "seriousness" with which all the factions viewed the current question.

After the discussions are concluded the various factions will report to the commission composed of Soviet Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov, United States Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and the British envoy Sir Archibald Clark Kerr.

Colonial Estate Sold

CHESTERTOWN, Md., June 17 (AP)—"Wheatlands," a historic colonial estate in Queen Anne's county, has been sold to Baron J. Bern von Lunde, the W. Clarke Grieb real estate agency reported today.

These observers said they were impressed with the "seriousness" with which all the factions viewed the current question.

An outline of the world's sugar prospects, excluding Japanese-held areas, prepared by Gustave Burmeister of the department's office of foreign relations, said:

"The difficulty in 1945 is not entirely one of total supply but of distribution. Those areas which normally produce export surpluses will have to tighten their belts."

This situation makes for critical shortages in the important consuming countries where rationing have been in effect throughout the war years.

Burmester said that such areas as the United States, the United Kingdom, Canada, nearly all of Europe and the Middle East, which do not produce enough to meet their own needs, probably will feel the pinch more in 1945 than at any time since the war began.

Enemy Homeland Targets Given Hard Pounding

Omuta, Kagoshima, Hamatsu and Yokkaichi Raided by Many B-29s

GUAM, Monday, June 18 (AP)—American B-29s rained incendiary bombs on four Japanese cities of less than 200,000 population each—Omuta and Kagoshima on Kyushu and Hamatsu and Yokkaichi on Honshu—in blistering low-level raids before dawn today. Approximately 450 Superfortresses participated.

Twenty-first bomber command headquarters said two large formations sent against the two Japanese mainland islands split again to strike at the four targets—all centers of small shop war industries. Light raids previously had been made on Hamamatsu and Kagoshima but these were the first attacks on Omuta and Yokkaichi.

HI Secondary Centers
The four-way blow appeared to be the start of the second phase of incendiary destruction of Japan's war industries, shifting from Tokyo and other larger cities to the secondary centers.

Maj. Gen. Curtis LeMay announced last week that the B-29s had knocked the key cities—Tokyo, Yokohama, Nagoya, Osaka and Kobe—out of or nearly out of war production.

The new raids were aimed at "backyard" war industries, which are believed to be producing many cheaply built suicide planes.

Although the tonnage of bombs dropped was not announced, the total probably was around 3,000. These were the first incendiary raids by the Marianas-based Superfortresses since the May 11 mission against Nagoya. The planes dropped their bombs after midnight, early in the afternoon, Sunday, United States Eastern War Time.

Is Coal Shipping Port
The population of Omuta, on the northeast coast of Kyushu's Shimabara gulf, is about 177,000. It has the largest artificial harbor in Japan and is a principal coal shipping port. Adjacent coal fields supply chemical, coke and synthetic oil industries. It is one of the most important chemical centers in the empire. It also is the site of one of the largest synthetic oil refineries. The population density is about 65,000 to a square mile.

Kagoshima, with a population of 181,736, is the major port of Southern Kyushu and the capital of Kagoshima prefecture. The big Kagoshima naval base is on the southwest of the city, which has numerous small machine factories and repair shops.

Yokkaichi is an important commercial and port city in the Nagoya area of Honshu. It is the site of textile mills and the Ishihara smelter, a large refinery and the Toyota heavy industry steel plant. There are extensive railroad freight yards in the center of the city. The population of 102,771 is squeezed into an area of two miles north and south and less than a mile and a half east and west.

Hamamatsu, also in the Nagoya area, has a population of 165,000. The Imperial government railway shops, third largest in Japan, are located there. Hamamatsu's factories produce materials and parts used in the aircraft industry.

Administration Claims Enough Votes To Pass Trade Bill

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP)—The administration claimed today to have the votes to pass the reciprocal trade agreement bill in a broadened power for the president to set tariff rates. The difficulty lies in keeping the votes on the floor.

The schedule is to call the roll Monday on restoration of authority—approved by the House but deleted by the Senate Finance committee—for the president to reduce selected import duties by another fifty percent. Present law gives him the right to cut fifty per cent below the 1930 Smoot-Hawley schedules.

Then on Tuesday the leaders hope to dispose of a batch of other amendments, including one offered by Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) to require congressional approval of each new reciprocal trade treaty and every new rate cut.

Sugar Importing Countries Face Critical Shortages within Year

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP)—Maldistribution threatens sugar importing countries with critical shortages this year, the Department of Agriculture said today.

An outline of the world's sugar prospects, excluding Japanese-held areas, prepared by Gustave Burmeister of the department's office of foreign relations, said:

"The difficulty in 1945 is not entirely one of total supply but of distribution. Those areas which normally produce export surpluses will have to tighten their belts."

This situation makes for critical shortages in the important consuming countries where rationing have been in effect throughout the war years.

Burmester said that such areas as the United States, the United Kingdom, Canada, nearly all of Europe and the Middle East, which do not produce enough to meet their own needs, probably will feel the pinch more in 1945 than at any time since the war began.

The change was announced as effective Monday, June 18. These nine employees were followed by other people in the Band Building Department engaged in similar work. Other operations continued until the end of the First shift with the Second and Third shifts not reporting for work. On Thursday morning, June 14, at 10 o'clock employees of the Shell line quit their jobs without any known grievance or dispute of any kind.

"The piecework or wage incentive form of payment is common practice with all companies in the Rubber industry. This form of wage payment has been in effect at the Kelly plant for many years. It is recognized as the most equitable method of wage payment, since it compensates the employee in direct proportion to the effort and skill put forth. Many operations have been a piecework since the plant started to reconvert to tire manufacturing in the fall of 1943.

Provision In Contract
"The company has a contract with the United Rubber Workers of America, Local 26, said contract having been arrived at after collective bargaining in good faith over a considerable period of time. The contract specifically provides, among other things, for no work stoppages or strikes during the life of the contract; the contract provides for the establishment of piecework rates. The contract protects every worker in that it provides that, if there is any change in rates of pay resulting from the settlement of a grievance, such change shall be retroactive to the effective date of the rate but not more than 60 days."

The company contends that no grievance has been presented in the current case and that "any questions concerning the form of wage payment should be resolved until all employees are back at work."

Hard On Business
"The company is engaged in the business of manufacturing and selling tires and other rubber products. This is the twelfth work stoppage that has occurred since January 1 and it is the second work stoppage since June 1. Obviously such continuing disruptions to the company's production and business cannot continue. No business can be held together by such frequent disruptions when it fails to satisfy the needs of its customers—whether the customers be the armed services or the company's dealers."

The action of the employees seems to resolve the question into the broad issue of whether or not piecework or wage incentive form of payment shall continue. It also resolves itself into the question of whether the employees shall abide by their contract and the company likewise. The company wishes to make clear to its more than 2,000 loyal workers that it will at all times abide by every provision of the contract; that if any rate or rates are found to be wrong corrections will be made with retroactive adjustments to the effective date of the rate, providing it be not more than 60 days."

only at the invitation or direction of either the White House or the departmental chiefs, or if they have some transcendental reason.

There is no present indication of any early visit to Washington by the supreme commander of Allied forces in the Southwest Pacific and commander of army forces in the Pacific. Details necessary to implement strategic plans apparently are being discussed in on-the-scene conferences in MacArthur's own back yard.

These conferences can do nothing to help settle the Japanese fear of new and even more fierce onslaughts in the not distant future.

General H. H. Arnold, air force chief, arrived in the Western Pacific last week, being reported first at Guam. There is expectation that he, too, will talk with MacArthur before his return to the United States.

This turns attention to a current question in the Pacific ocean area—how much of the army's air power is destined to be under command of General George C. Kenney's Allied air forces in the Southwest Pacific area and how much is to be under the Twentieth air force. The commanding general of the Twentieth is Arnold, the deputy commander Lt. Gen. Barney Giles, who also is commanding general of air forces for the Pacific ocean area.

Kenney's command presently includes various types of fighters, medium bombers, B-24s and similar craft. It is under the overall command of MacArthur. The Twentieth air force, on the other hand, is an independent agency, operating separately from MacArthur although subject to the general strategic direction of the joint chiefs of staff in Washington.

Zoning Appeals Board Meeting Is Postponed Until Next Monday

The regular meeting of the Cumberland Zoning Appeals Board has been postponed from today until Monday, June 25, at 7:30 p. m., in the city hall council chamber.

George H. Tederick, secretary, said the postponement was effected due to an appeal which was filed late last week. According to ordinance, an appeal must be advertised in a local newspaper one week prior to the date the hearing is scheduled.

The docket for next week now contains three cases concerning occupancy permits which were denied by the city engineer.

Some Timely Information On Corporate Investment

AS the Mighty Seventh—we all know by this time to what the reference is—enters its final phase today in which corporations become eligible to buy War Loan securities, some detailed information about the purchases is in order. All concerned with corporations hereabout may save a lot of looking-up and calculating by clipping out this piece for reference.

Assigned as a quota of $7,000,000,000 or half the over-all $14,000,000,000 sought during the drive, corporations now may buy six of the eight issues of securities offered.

Corporations may buy the two and one-half per cent Treasury bonds of 1967-72, two one-fourth per cent Treasury bonds of 1967-72 and one-year seven-eighth per cent certificates of indebtedness among the marketables and Series F and G bonds and three-year Treasury Savings notes. The one and one-half per cent Treasury bonds of 1960 and Savings bonds, Series E and G, are restricted to purchase by individuals.

The marketables are offered at par and accrued interest from June 1 so that corporations must pay the interest from the first of the month until June 18 or such later date as payment for them is received. Interest must be figured to the date on which funds will be available at a Federal Reserve Bank or branch or at the Treasury.

For the convenience of buyers of the marketables, the Treasury department has prepared a table showing the day-by-day accrual of interest throughout the month of June. For example, the accrual on June 1 for $1000 denominations of the two and one-half is $1.56 for the two and one-fourths, $1.037 and for the one-year certificates of indebtedness, $0.408.

All of the Savings bonds contain redemption privileges. Series F and G, at the option of the owner, may be redeemed on the first day of any calendar month after six months from the issue date, upon one month's written notice. The three-year Savings notes do not require advance notice for redemption for cash but must be held the same length of time as the Series F and G Bonds to be eligible. Redemption is at par and accrued interest for the Savings notes, except that notes inscribed in the name of a commercial bank are redeemable at par only.

Issued at seventy-four per cent of maturity value, the Series F bonds, due twelve years from issue date, will yield 2.53 per cent compounded semi-annually if held to maturity. Redemption value prior to maturity allows for issue price, plus graduated interest. The Series F bonds are designed to fit the needs of investors who desire an appreciation bond of medium term which is not subject to market fluctuations. At the option of the owner, income may be treated as current or deferred for income tax purposes, a feature advantageous to many buyers. An investor is limited in any calendar year to the purchase of not more than $100,000 (issue price) of the Series F or G bonds if separate issues are bought or the same amount in the aggregate if a combination of the two issues is purchased.

A current income bond, the Series G's is issued at par to yield two and one-half per cent if held to maturity with interest payable semi-annually by Treasury check. Prior to maturity, these bonds may be redeemed at discount as shown by a table prepared by the Treasury. The discount value provides for yields at less than two and one-half per cent for intermediate periods and takes into account the interest received in semi-annual payment prior to redemption. The Series G bonds fit the needs of investors who desire a current income bond, not subject to market fluctuations.

Dated the first day of the month in which paid for, the three-year Treasury Savings notes Series C are issued at par to yield 10 per cent if held to maturity. At the option of the owner, they may be redeemed for cash at any time, during and after the sixth calendar month after the month issue without advance notice except that notes inscribed in the name of a commercial bank are redeemable at par only. After the second calendar month after month of purchase, they are acceptable at par and accrued interest in payment of federal income, estate and gift taxes. Interest accrues monthly on a graduated scale. The Savings notes are not restricted as to amount in investors may buy.

But individuals must not suppose that with this eligibility of corporate purchasing their obligation to buy E Bonds comes to an end. More must be sold, and individuals must buy, if the whole campaign is to be a success—and what patriotic American wants to see it otherwise?

Japanese Throw In Trump Air Cards

IN THE AIR over the Japanese homeland American pilots are learning once again that it is never safe to underestimate the enemy. Hit hard and often, knocked groggy on land, sea and in the air, the Japs still have some tricks left up their sleeve.

For months the Japanese have been suffering terrible losses in the air. Thousands of their planes have been destroyed, their aviation factories and airfields have been blasted, and the quality of the enemy pilots met over the Philippines and Okinawa has been deteriorating.

In recent sweeps over Japan, however, carrier pilots of the American Third Fleet have been meeting enemy planes and airmen of a surprisingly different caliber. Crack Jap pilots flying new and better planes are in the words of one American officer, "thumping their noses" at American airmen. Their ships are described as "superior to our own" in "speed and maneuverability" and their pilots have developed a new and spectacular combat technique which is giving American fliers plenty of trouble. Perhaps it should not be surprising that the Japanese have been carefully hoarding their "first-string" planes and pilots for the crucial air battles over their homeland. An air force short of ships and fliers would be foolish not to save the best for the decisive battles. The one remaining hope of the Japs, since they cannot match the American armada in numbers, is to catch it by surprise and attempt to inflict such staggering losses that it will give up the struggle.

A Dangerous Pastime

ONE of the peculiar quirks of youngsters is the impulse to throw away other things at passing trains, buses, trucks and other motor cars. It comes, of course, with the natural proclivity of youth to engage in some devilment just for the sake of it. The most of those who do throw things at moving carriers really are old enough to know better.

But the impulse continues and there is the distressing report by railroad officials that the nuisance has increased twenty per cent since the war started, an assertion that bears out the apprehensions and warnings that the war has brought about juvenile delinquency. The reports fortunately show comparatively little injury or damage, albeit both might have been considerable. One engineer, however, was hospitalized for a week by a wound suffered when a thrown stone hit him in the chin. Another was struck by a brick dropped from a bridge. Still another victim received a fractured skull when milk bottles filled with sand.

There are, of course, laws providing penalties for this sort of thing. But this represents a problem that cannot be solved by laws or police. For one thing there aren't enough cops to watch every spot every hour. It is a problem that should be solved in the home; and the schools could play a helpful part. Parents, teachers and other elders should explain to youngsters that such antics may cause serious injury to persons who have no chance to protect themselves, and possible costly damage to boot. The youngsters will respond if properly taken in hand.

Americans Are Not Anxious for Spoils

AMERICAN MILITARY FORCES are not taking the position that the spoils belong to the victor in the defeat of Germany, regardless of what may be the attitude of Stalin. In fact, much of the territory conquered by American forces is being turned over to the other Allied nations. American forces will occupy only Bavaria. The Ninth army has yielded such once great cities as Leipzig, Magdeburg, Chemnitz and Erfurt to the Russians.

Germany already has put in a claim for all of Eastern Germany to a line west of Berlin. The British will control the Rhineland and the Ruhr, including such important cities as Cologne, Dueren, Dusseldorf and Essen.

Food will be a major problem in Germany at least for year. Every effort will be made to keep the United States responsible for a token area of German territory, if for no other reason than an American willingness to send over food in generous quantities. So maybe this is a case of the less the better.

One of the postwar specialties will be all those Alibi Ike's blaming everything "on the peace."

VALUATIONS

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS
Every day we unconsciously appraise life. And we appraise each day, each hour, in the same way. The proportion of our appreciation is measured by the valuation that we place upon these hours, days, months, and of life itself.

The careless, happy-go-lucky individual, with no set plan of life before him, and with no thought of plans either for the hour, the day, or the month, certainly gains little out of his opportunity for service and happiness in this world. Valuations mean nothing to such a one.

There can be more genuine happiness in a simple hut than in the most elaborately furnished palace, if love is lacking in the latter, and love is in the former. That little hut, without a single rug upon the floor, may have a greater valuation than the palace, with its floors strewn with priceless rugs.

Only the substantial and eternal are worthy of valuations. The father who bequeaths character to his children, leaves a legacy that is beyond purchase in terms of money. How foolish we are to bank on values that may be wiped out in a night! I owe a debt to a noble Father and Mother that can never be fully paid, but so long as I live I can make payments on that debt by whatever good I am able to render to others.

Reams of advertising material and large sums of money spent in a number of ways cannot make a bad book live. The good book needs none of this. A friend of mine paid over a thousand dollars recently for three fine English novels in their first editions. Ten dollars could have bought them all upon publication—had this anxious buyer been around to buy them at that time—when they were not appreciated. Their rarity now is occasioned by the fact that only a few bought them when they were unknown, or even long after they were known.

It's the valuation that we place upon our own abilities and character that measures our worth in the world. The words that we utter, the very look in our eyes, and the warmth of our hand and heart tell more to the stranger or newly met than a big volume of words—mere words.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Hopkins Scores at Moscow by Reversing The Horse-and-Buggy Diplomatic Method

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Only top insiders who watched the close-up of our diplomatic discussions with Russia realize how great was Harry Hopkins' achievement in Moscow.

US-USSR relations were at a most serious impasse. Not only was American public opinion aroused over the whole Polish question, but Russian generals were becoming high-handed and almost ready to throw aside Allied co-operation.

This column carried a series of articles describing our relations with Russia at the time, emphasizing the dangerous deadlock and attributing it partly to Red-baiting by anti-Russian diplomats, plus Churchill's policy of keeping the United States and the Soviet at sword's points, plus the State department's old-fashioned policy of note-writing instead of talking things out face-to-face.

Writing notes was the worn-out method Joe Grew used when he got into hot water with Mexico and Nicaragua when he was under secretary of state in the Coolidge administration. However, as with Mexico and Nicaragua, hurling written notes at Moscow only got Stalin's back up.

Stalin Writes Truman
For instance, here is one reply which Stalin threw back at President Truman regarding Poland just a little over a month ago, at the time Grew and Stettinius were drafting notes for Truman to send Stalin.

"I am ready to fulfill your request to reach a harmonious solution," Stalin wrote back to Truman, "but you demand too much of me. In other words you demand that I renounce the interests of security of the Soviet Union. However, I cannot turn against my own country."

"In my opinion," Stalin continued, "there is one way out of this situation: Adopt the Yugoslav example as a pattern for Poland. I believe that this would allow us to come to a harmonious solution."

This was very strong diplomatic language. When the head of a nation says he will not turn against his own country it means that he won't budge another inch. Also, the Yugoslav pattern was not much of a compromise, since the State department had already complained to Stalin about this situation and alleged Russian failure to carry out the Yalta agreement in Yugoslavia.

Hopkins Advice Followed

It was at this tightly deadlocked moment that Harry Hopkins finally advised Truman that the thing to do was stop writing notes and have someone put his feet under the same table with Stalin and talk things out instead.

Result: Hopkins persuaded Stalin to reverse his previous firm stand from which he had said he could not budge an inch.

Note 1: Chief trouble with our older diplomats, and with Ed Stettinius, who takes his cues from them, is that they don't realize this is the day of airplanes, not sailing ships. Diplomatic note-writing dates from the horse-and-buggy days of diplomacy when it took six weeks to cross the Atlantic and we could not send Ambassadors speedily to talk things out face-to-face. Now we can get an ambassador to Moscow in one day.

Note 2: Soviet policy is seldom uniform, and while Polish relations are much improved, a very serious situation confronts US-USSR relations in Bulgaria.

Japs Yearn for U.S.A.

Naval officers who talked with hard-hitting editor Palmer Hoyt of the Portland Oregonian after his trip to two Jima got some interesting ideas on Jap psychology and what it may take to persuade the Japs to surrender.

Hoyt had the unique experience of interviewing 300 Jap navy landing troops just taken prisoner on Okinawa. They were considered crack troops, especially selected for their size and intelligence, and Hoyt was amazed to hear that what they wanted most was to go to the United States and become naturalized citizens.

Reason of this was that, for them, life had ceased at home. Any Japanese who is taken prisoner is considered dead. He can never go home. A curtain has shut down between him and everything in Japan. And these men, having no future, wanted to come to the United States.

However, realizing that they probably would not be accepted here, their next hope was that the United States would take over some mid-

Big Three Meeting Is Seen Prompting A Succession Bill

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, June 16—Again a president of the United States goes across the seas to meet the head of the Soviet Union and the prime minister of Great Britain. Again the meeting is held in a territory under Russian control instead of on the soil of either the United States or Great Britain.

No announcement has been made as to the reason why the vicinity of Berlin was selected as the place for the meeting of the "Big Three," but it is evident that Marshal Stalin did not feel he could travel outside his own jurisdiction, and rather than not have any meeting because of a possible difference of opinion on the location of the conference, the heads of the British and American governments acceded. This has happened twice before and rather than interpret it now as a sign of Russian insistence of her viewpoint, it might better be construed as a sign of Russian insistence to all the world of the lengths to which the United States and Britain are ready to go to assure Russia of our desire for friendship and unity.

Truman Has Better Excuse
For this is really no time for the new president of the United States to be away. Marshall Stalin always used to plead military necessity as a reason for not going far from Russia. But Mr. Truman can make a stronger plea. Europe's war and Russia's big military operations are at an end. The war, however, on the one hand, and Japan, on the other, remains yet to be won. Also Mr. Truman is new at his job. He needs every single hour that he can devote to become familiar with it and supervise the many readjustments to our national economy that now are in progress as a result of the termination of the European war.

Unfortunately, due to the indifference of Congress, no provision has been made by law as yet for the selection of an elective officer to succeed to the presidency if anything should happen on the hazardous trip that lies ahead. To venture into German territory so soon after the surrender and into areas where there are all sorts of persons running around who have hostility in their hearts, is to assume a risk. The nation will pray that fears may prove groundless but Congress has a duty to amend the presidential succession law so that the speaker of the House of Representation can take the place of the president when no vice president is in office to succeed a president. Then a special election—to be held along with the next congressional election—can be stipulated in the law as a means of filling the vacancies in the office of president and vice president.

Up to House Leadership

Naturally this isn't the kind of a reform that Mr. Truman would feel it was proper for him to initiate and, as for the speaker of the House, it might be embarrassing for him to press such a bill. The opportunity is there for the House leadership, Republican perhaps more than Democratic, to put through a joint resolution in the next few days.

It is noteworthy that Mr. Truman is going to take with him not only Secretary Stettinius but also James F. Byrnes and the top military advisers. Doubtless Gen. Eisenhower will be back in Berlin by the time the conference begins and will take charge of America's arrangements.

The Russians can be counted on to police meticulously the area where the meeting is to be held and to keep everyone who doesn't belong in the vicinity away from the conference. The exact date of the meeting has not been divulged. It is most unfortunate that the British carelessly disclosed the place.

Made Public by Deputy

There had been an agreement that, for reasons of security, no mention would be made of the place of meeting. Prime Minister Churchill mentioned it, however, in a letter to Deputy Prime Minister Attlee, who made it public. Whether the latter did so with the consent of Mr. Churchill is not known but clearly the international understanding that the secret would be kept was violated.

It doesn't augur well for the handling of the news of the meeting and unless all the governments concerned keep these matters secret until after the participants are on their way home, a repetition of previous blunders may be anticipated. The movements of a president and prime minister ought not to be revealed any more than news of Marshal Stalin's itinerary. The leaks in London will have to be plugged up tightly as the leakage of news on previous international meetings has come primarily from the British capital.

By BOB HOPE

Well, it's vacation time on the radio and my show is being followed by a mystery serial. The sponsor has given Herbert Marshall thirteen weeks to try to figure how I get away with it.

I want to spend my vacation in the mountains but my relatives want to go to the seashore—Oh well the sea air will be good for me. But you're really no better what a strain it is being funny for thirty-nine weeks—in fact some year I'm going to try it.

I'm glad I'm not one of those soap operas that run the year around—although they do have a vacation—not that they leave the air of course—they just plot two weeks in the summer and leave out the bluing.

And I'm visiting my GI friends overseas for a while of course. I'd miss not seeing them—I've played in so many foxholes now every time I see a bunch of grapes I leap in the air and snap at them.

Then there's my Boy Scout work—I'm going to get my merit badge for tracking this summer if it kills me.

So you see I'm going to be very busy and that's fine. "Idle hands only get into mischief," my sponsor told me as he put me to work screwing the caps in the tubes.

Army Point System Is Declared Unfair

Editor The Cumberland News:

Agitation is growing perceptibly in relation to the present system of granting discharges from the army to holders of a rating of eighty-five points. The accumulation of such points is based on the wild fancies of a few brass hats. Points are graded for time in army, time spent overseas, battle participations, medals, etc., but not a point is given for actual combat service.

Recognizing three battle stars for the Italian campaign, over twenty months, and then six battle stars for the European campaign, eleven months, just does not make sense. The men of Clark's Fifth army really are given the run around under the present system. No one will deny that the battles of Anzio, Cassino and Legoria, were as tough as any on the European front, yet for some reason, the months spent in taking and retaking Cassino and Monte Cassino, count only one battle.

Then again, we must remember that for nearly a year, the Fifth army was really in enemy territory, Italy during that time was also a fighting enemy. No complaint is made for granting credit points for time in service, or for time overseas, but since the award of battle stars seems open to criticism, going in many cases to non-combatants, some effort should be made to correct the injustices now heaped on plain GI Joe.

The least that can be done, is to show our recognition of the actual time spent in combat. There is a great difference in spending a year in England preparing for assault, and being thrown into combat after four months training, in the hilly terrain and sickening weather of Italy. Allow one additional point for each month of actual combat. Add such points to the present setup and the greater part of present criticism, will be rectified.

GAMES NEXT SUNDAY
Centerville at Lonaconing.
Midland at Queen City.
Cumberland Legion at Froburg.

Seaman Melvin Nee, pitching one of the best games of the season in the Pen-Mar Baseball League yesterday at Centerville, Pa., shut out Froburg American Legion tilters, 5-0, on one hit.

The Reds, in making it seven straight victories, moved closer to the first-half championship. Nee, who struck out thirteen to bring his total for the season to more than fifty, had won four in a row. He is available to Manager John Hafer only every other week and has yet to be knocked out of the box.

Cumberland's Queen City Brewers and American Legion ballhaws remained deadlocked for second place two and one-half games behind Centerville with the Brewmen trimming the Lonaconing Republican Club, 11-4, at Lonaconing in the latter's home opener and Frank Williams' crew walloping the Midland Indians, 13-7, at Community park here.

"Bee" Scarpelli's double over first base in the sixth was all that came between Nee and a perfect game. The Reds' twirler had two strikes on the Froburg outfielder when the latter connected.

Centerville scored once in the fourth when Pete Cook singled and stole second, advanced on an infield out and counted on Glentis Street's single, once in the sixth on David Rose's single and a perfect game.

George Cook and Alton Nave started afield. Cook made a nice catch of Scarpelli's drive in the second and Nave made a one-hand stab of Tony Arnone's drive in the eighth. David Rose and Pete Cook each had two hits for Centerville, which failed to bang out an extra-base blow.

Preceding the game at Lonaconing, William Abbott, Sr., presented "Lefty" Grove, Centerville's manager, with a gift from baseball fans of that town.

The Brewers caught the offerings of three Coney pitchers for a dozen hits, all singles, with Charley Waller having a perfect day with four for four. Bill Gardner led Coney's seven-hit attack on John Lowery with three blows.

Queen City sewed up the game in the seventh with two runs. Earl Sellers singled, "Spike" Herboldshimer walked, Walters singled, Nick Peruzzo hit into a fielder's choice and Bill Stevenson singled.

Lonaconing got three of its tallies in the sixth when Gardner singled, Jim McPartland was safe on an error, Ed Thompson singled to left, and Schramm flied to left, and marked up its final run in the ninth when Blaine McKenzie lashed out a homer.

Cumberland Legion and Midland engaged in something of a slugfest with the Legion counting six runs in the sixth and five in the seventh inning to extend its winning streak to four games.

In the sixth, Frank Williams

Spotlight bands, which have been on the ABC for the last couple of years or so, will return to the network of their origin, MBS, Monday night. ## Psalm Wall Panel The Lord is my Shepherd

The Lord is my Shepherd
I shall not want. He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: he leadeth me beside the still waters.
He restoreth my soul: he leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake. Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.
Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: thou encreasest my soul as a fat olive. Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the Lord for ever.

by Laura Wheeler

Average of "E" Sales Must Be $35,833 Daily

Fifty Per Cent of Quota Attained; Drive Ends in Three Weeks

Sales of "E" bonds in Allegheny county must average $35,833 daily for the county to attain its goal of $1,350,000 by July 7, in the Seventh War Loan Drive. John J. McMullen, chairman, announced last night.

He based his estimate on sales amounting to $705,034, reported by the Treasury department Thursday, June 14, and the date of the total sales of all war bonds amounting to $2,549,787.75 as against a quota of $3,700,000.

Commencing today, orders from corporations will be accepted by the Treasury department and indications point to a heavy oversubscription from these sources.

"There is no question that Allegheny county will exceed its total of $3,700,000," McMullen said. "Sales of 'E' bonds to this date, however, amount to fifty per cent of the quota of $1,350,000. This drive cannot be counted as a success unless the 'E' quota is reached."

"Our committee is confident patriotic citizens of the county will maintain their good record of exceeding quotas of 'E' bonds. It means, however, that a great number of additional people must buy bonds. Those who already have made purchases are urged to buy additional bonds to make the campaign a success. Our boys on the fighting front will get a full report of this drive and we do want them to hear that Allegheny county is backing them to the fullest extent."

No Signs of Early Settlement in Strike of Kelly Employees

There were no signs late last night of an early settlement in the strike of Kelly-Springfield Tire Company employees which has been in progress since Wednesday in the tire-making departments and on the shell line since Thursday.

Company officials issued a statement last night announcing that the weekend would not abandon the piece work or incentive form of wage payment and called upon its employees "to carry out their obligations" under the existing contract and return to work.

Committees, Chairmen To Meet

Charles C. Beard, president of Local 26, UAWA, CIO, said last night "there is nothing definite to report except that there will be a meeting of the local union and division chairmen of the local tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the Rubber Workers hall," but said it will not deal directly with the strike.

On Wednesday, June 13, nine employees on the First shift in the Ford Building Department quit in protest against an announced change in wage payment from day work to piecework or wage incentive form of payment.

Townsend Backers Will Hire Experts To Give Testimony

Goldsberry Says Hearings on Bill Will Be Held This Summer

Pull and fair hearings on the Townsend Plan legislation will be held this summer in Washington, P. Manley Goldsberry, head of the Washington Legislative bureau, told a gathering of representatives of Townsend clubs of Western Maryland and Mineral county, W. Va., yesterday in the Queen City hotel.

This assurance has been given sponsors of the legislation by Rep. Robert L. Doughton, of North Carolina, chairman of the House Ways and Means committee. Goldsberry advised his audience.

The speaker emphasized that the legislation has proved itself non-partisan because identical measures have been introduced in Washington this year by Rep. Pat Cannon, Florida Democrat, and Rep. Homer Angell, Oregon Republican. Goldsberry recalled that the first piece of Townsend legislation was introduced in 1935.

The Townsend legislative head said that a fund-raising campaign is now being carried on by Townsend clubs throughout the country to provide expenses for the expert witnesses sought to testify in behalf of Townsend legislation before the House Ways and Means committee.

Expert Witnesses Sought

"We must have ten to fifteen expert witnesses to testify before that committee and these witnesses must furnish convincing proof that the Townsend plan will work," Goldsberry declared.

"These witnesses must be able to supply facts and figures to convince the House committee that the plan must be enacted into law."

Goldsberry pointed out that the kind of testimony needed is from persons who know how the gross income tax works. One of the persons mentioned favorably as a star witness is William Bothwick, tax commissioner of the Hawaiian Islands, where the gross income tax law has been in effect since 1935.

Discusses Indiana Law

Discussing the gross income tax law now in effect in Indiana, Goldsberry stated that this legislation was attacked from every angle before it finally was enacted into law. Governor McNutt proposed to inaugurate the gross income tax law for Indiana to save the state from bankruptcy, the speaker added.

Records were brought from the Hawaiian Islands to prove that such a law was workable and as a result the state adopted the measure. "It's the perfect method against the gross income tax," Goldsberry asserted in referring to Indiana as one of the most prosperous states in the union due to the gross income tax.

The Townsend Legislative Bureau spokesman said that the greatest amount of criticism against the Townsend plan comes from those who fail to understand the method of imposing the three per cent gross income tax.

Says Program Is Best

Goldsberry urged local clubs to get solidly behind the movement by obtaining more members and forming new clubs. "1945 is our year. The Seventy-ninth Congress is going to hear it and vote on the legislation because we are thoroughly convinced our program is the best," he emphasized.

When the program is heard in Washington so will the Townsend plan."

George Woodson, Townsend organizer for Maryland and West Virginia, presided. Representatives of the Hagerstown, Keokuk, Ellerslie, Wiley Ford, Springfield, Lonaconing and Cumberland attended the meeting.

Other nominations were John Schaidt, vice president; P. E. Cotton, treasurer; H. C. Smith, secretary, and George W. Wilbur, Shank, G. W. Smith, C. R. Hershberger, Luther Hite and Kingsley Nichols.

Carl Soethe, Wade Coffey and C. R. Hershberger were named to the board of trustees.

The election and installation of officers will be held June 28 at the regular meeting of the local. Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

Grant Wallizer, Wade Coffey and John Shaidt were named for financial secretary. Among those nominated to the executive board were George W. Wilbur, Shank, G. W. Smith, C. R. Hershberger, Luther Hite and Kingsley Nichols.
